QUESTIONS BEING ASKED BY FARMERS

Q. What varieties of small grains are recommended this fall

A. Winter oat varieties recommended in the Coastal Plain are Arlington, Atlantic, Lee Cold Proof, Fulgrain, Fulwood, and Victorgrain 48-93. In Piedmont plant Arlington, Atlantic, Lee Cold Proof, and Forkedeer north of the James River only. West of the Blue Ridge plant Atlantic, Forkedeer, Lee Cold Proof, and Arlington in Lee County and low elevations of Scott.

Recommended barley varieties are Wong, Kenbar, and Hudson, throughout the state. Kentucky No. 1 is also recommended west of the Blue Ridge.

Wheat varieties for the Coastal Plain are: Vahart, Senaca, Thorne, Atlas 50, Atlas 66, Nudel, and Anderson For Piedmont: Vahart, Senaca, Thorne, Leap, Nudel, Anderson, and (south of the James River) Atlas 50 and Atlas 66. For west of the Blue Ridge: Vahart, Senaca, Thorne, Leap, VPI 131, Nudel, and Pennoll.

Q. How do you control the corn earworm on sorghum?

A. This clone to harvest time use three pounds of actual methoxychlor per acre and wait 10 days before harvesting, or two pounds of actual methoxychlor per acre and wait seveg days before harvesting. If no part of the sorghum plants are to be used as animal feed, the earworms can be controlled with one pound actual DDT per acre.

Q. On good tobacco soils to be seeded to small grain, how much fertiliser and what analysis should I use?

A. If the soil has received as much as 1,000 pounds per acre for the tobacco, the fertilizer for small grain can be reduced to 200 to 300 pounds. If the tobacco has not been liberally fertilized, use 400 to 600 pounds of fertilizer for the small grain. Use a 5-10-10, or the equivalent.

OF LOCAL INTEREST

Fort Richardson, Alaska.- Second Lieutenant and Mrs. Charles A. Harvey, of Appomattox were visited by the stork September 15, to become the first "Alaska Parents" assigned to Heavy Mortar Company, 23rd Infantry Regiment, since the unit Gyroscoped to Fort Richardson in August. The baby, Deborah Rae, is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Harvey, Route 5, Appomattox. Lieut. Harvey is platoon leader of the 2nd Platoon and motor officer for the company. Before entering the Army in April, 1955, he was graduated from Appomattox High School in 1950 and from V. P. I. in 1955.

IN FASHION NOW

The day is past when the lady in the "know" has any complex about wearing glasses. The old couplet to the effect that "men seldom make passes at girls who wear glasses" is no longer true.

Girls with less than perfect vision do not resignedly wear "utility" glasses. The modern lass choses her glasses to "glamorize" her ensemble. Thanks to today's fashion-conscious world, the optician has become a very important cog in the life of the well-dressed woman.

You choose your glasses with many things in mind — the shape of your face, your hairdo, lipstick colors and makeup shades. It is possible to pick glasses that will actually do something to enhance your face and coloring.

The development of plastic substance for eye-glasses frames has made possible many daring innovations in the design and decoration. Many of the new styles are upswept and intriguingly designed. They are decorated with every kind of glitter known to man. In common use by American women are the frames that have snap on colors for everyday use and snap on jeweled decorations for evening.

Glasses give some women an arresting individuality and chic that might otherwise be impossible for her. Proof of this is the fact that many women with perfect vision wear beautiful and enhancing frames with plain, unground glass.

Optical designers tell us that a woman would not dream of wearing a business suit to a formal dance so why should she feel that it is all right to wear the same pair of glasses to every event in her life?

VIRGINIA WATERFOWL IDENTIFICATION GUIDE IS NOW AVAILABLE

The Virginia Waterfowl Identification Guide is just off the press, and according to W. C. Kellner, acting chief of the education division of the Commssion of Game and Inland Fisheries, it is being sent out to schools, sportmen's organizations, and interested individuals throughout the state.

Health and Beauty

Appendicitis

It is amazing how many people are still dying from supposedly the lately believe that it is easy to diagnose, but this is far from the truth.

There are many causes of abnormal pains with nausea, vomiting, and fever, accompanied by pain in the right side. Appendicitis is one of them.

When Mrs. Blank's little boy developed these symptoms, she and the neighbors are sure that it was appendicitis and that there was nothing to do but call the doctor to confirm their diagnosis. But when it does not turn out that way the doctor gets into the case very carefully, for these are many other serious conditions that might have caused the little boy's symptoms.

Abdominal pain frequently occurs, in diseases of the tissues such as tumors, or other growths, pneumonia and pleurisy at the base of the right lung might cause pain that could be mistaken for appendicitis. An inflamed bladder could easily be mistaken for appendicitis. The symptoms are often identical. Kidney disease produces agonizing abdominal pain together with nausea, vomiting and fever.

A very dangerous condition that is often mistaken for appendicitis is acute intestinal obstruction. This is a blocking of the intestines by adhesions or by one part of the intestine slipping into another.

There are many other conditions too numerous to mention in a brief article which could be mistaken for appendicitis. For this reason, as soon as an acute pain develops, the doctor should be sent for immediately. Do not be surprised at the care with which he proceeds to determine whether the real cause of the trouble is appendicitis or not.

Appendicitis is caused by a large and indigestible mass, especially at night, holding the chronic constipation, and the invasion of the intestines by bacteria.

The first symptoms of appendicitis are usually chilling, followed about the navel, and the right side of the abdomen. It may come on suddenly, or be preceded by dyspepsia, nausea, soreness, tenderness over the lower right side. Tenderness is usually present over an area known as McBurney's Point.

When the doctor has decided that the case as appendicitis, it is always a safe procedure to have the appendix removed. Never take a dose the patient will die between life and death for the patient.

SEEK TO PROMOTE USE OF SALK VACCINE

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis issued a plea today for volunteer organizations and individuals to assist in accelerating the vaccine education program in an effort to get thousands of additional youngsters and teens protected against paralytic polio.

A spokesman for the National Foundation stated that first innoculations must begin in October or early November if the recommended series correctly spaced are completed before the '57 pollo season. "We have the tragic lesson of 1956 in which 85 children and young adults have been stricken to date in the state by paralytic polio," stated a spokesman for the National Foundation. He went on to point out that all these people were eligible for vaccine and 80 of them for free vaccine. "All might have been avoided had the vaccine been used in time," he added.

A total of 155 cases has been reported to date in Virginia with about 70 per cent of them paralytic. No cases had received three shots of vaccine.

The National Foundation urged volunteers to assist by passing out educational materials and by making talks and showing films where groups are gathered. The spokesman stated that such material could be provided by its County Chapters throughout the state.

It's just good business, point out VPI specialists, to see that wheat in storage doesn't become contaminated. Rodents and insects offer the biggest threat to stored grain. Both can be controlled.

EIGHT VA. FFA MEMBERS ARE RECOMMENDED

Richmond, Va.- Eight Future Farmers of America members from Virginia will be recommended to receive the organization's highest degree, that of American Farmer, at the 29th annual National Convention of FFA in Kansas City, Missouri, October 15-18.

R. E. Bass, of Richmond, State Supervisor of Vocational Agriculture, reported he has received information from FFA headquarters in Washington, D. C., stating that the Board of Student Officers and Board of Directors of the national organization have reviewed the Virginia applications and will recommend that the eight boys receive the coveted degree. Approval by these boards usually is tantamount to election by the delegates.

The eight Virginians named are Ernest B. Craun II, Weyers Cave, member of the North River FFA Chapter; Willie R. Gilman, Ashland, member of the Ashland FFA Chapter; John Richard Gregory, Rocky Gap, member of the Rocky Gap FFA Chapter; George R. Hanslik, Route 2, Petersburg, member of the Prince George FFA Chapter; David S. Miller, Bland, member of the Bland FFA Chapter; Robert E. Mills, Route 3, Lynchburg, member of the Brookville FFA Chapter; Sherrell Mason Poff, Willis, member of the Willis FFA Chapter; Earl R. Reeses, Mt. Solon, member of the North River FFA Chapter.

Nationally, the FFA Board of Directors voted to recommend that 365 Future Farmers receive the American Farmer Degree. Presentation of the degrees will take place in the Municipal Auditorium at Kansas City during the convention session on the afternoon of October 16. Each degree winner will receive a certificate and gold key from the FFA Organization, and a $100 check from the Future Farmers of America Foundation, Inc.

Attainment of the American Farmer Degree is based on the Future Farmer's record in farming, leadership and scholarship. The degree is limited to FFA members who have been out of high school at least one year and who are showing evidence of becoming successfully established in farming.

NEW BOOK IN THE COUNTY LIBRARY

Don't Go Near the Water, by William Brinkley.

The story concerns a unit of landlocked mariners for whom the immortal naval watchword, "Don't Give Up the Ship" became "Don't Go Near the Water." They were Public Relations officers, and most of them, like their leader, Lt. Conamder Clinton T. Nash (formerly in charge of a Midwest branch of the brokerage house) were commissioned "without the corrupting effect of any intervening naval training." By 1945, the time our story begins, they had bravely faced the wartime adversities and shortages existing on the remote island of Tulura and had converted it into a kind of Radio City of the Pacific. One of the greatest adversities, of course, was the short supply of women; but they met with that problem with the same ingenuity and devotion that they applied to all others: they met it if not head-on, at least halfway, and made do, so to speak, with what supply there was. It all adds up to a rousing entertainment, broadley farcical, but with—as a counterplot in another mood — a gentle and tender love story running through it all.

AUTO INSPECTION TO START OCTOBER 1

Richmond, Va.- "A safety check of your car by a qualified mechanic is insurance that acts to prevent trouble rather than ease the burden after it comes," said Captain R. B. King, State Police Safety Officer, today in announcing the opening of the fall inspection period October 1.

Passenger automobiles will be inspected from October 1 through November 15 and trucks during the entire month of December. Trucks include all vehicles with "truck" or "convertible" license plates.

Captain King pointed out that, while all highway dangers cannot always be foreseen, a mechanically safe vehicle is one precaution that can be taken by everyone.

"Our message, as usual," he said, "is a plea that motorists present their cars for inspection early and not wait until the inevitable last-minute jam. It will be illegal to drive a passenger automobile after midnight November 15 if it does not have the new red sticker." The safety official went on to say that there are more than 2,000 licensed inspection stations in Virginia with some 9,000 registered mechanics employed by them.
